Events Calendar

April 2016

Dear Neighbors,

Spring has arrived, and with it, plenty of fun and important events in the neighborhood! This is the LAST CALL to vote for projects to be funded through Participatory Budgeting (see below, Sunday is the last day to vote), and the winner will be announced at the TOWN HALL on April 18th. Also, don't miss one of my favorite events: the annual tulip festival at the West Side Community Garden (recently featured in Gothamist's 10 Facts You May Not Know About The Upper West Side).

How do YOU want to spend $1 million to improve the Upper West Side? If you haven't voted in PB yet this year, you still have a few more days! Don't miss your chance to vote on your favorite five projects – the projects with the most votes will get funded. Here's the ballot, and the remaining voting locations are below:

Frak Theatre at 6:30pm, and you should enter at the Columbus Avenue entrance. Public Comment will be taken at this meeting. There is a quite a bit of misinformation about this proposal, and I encourage you to take this opportunity to learn firsthand about the project and submit comment.

See you in the community!

January 21 – May 8, 2016

Location: American Folk Art Museum, 2 Lincoln Square, (Columbus Avenue between 65th and 66th Streets)

FREE. Enigmatic, evocative, and often simply strange, fraternal references are a rich part of contemporary American popular culture. But the seductive mystique of secret societies, with their cryptic signs, gestures, and arcane rituals, has been inculcated in our American experience since the early eighteenth century. Before the age of mass production, the artist who painted a portrait or embellished a piece of furniture might have also decorated a parade banner, an apron, symbols on a chart, or a backdrop for a fraternal lodge. More important, he or she encoded the ideals of fellowship, labor, charity, passage, and wisdom—the core of fraternal teachings—into the many forms associated with fraternal practice. The iconic art and objects showcased in Mystery and Benevolence relate the tenets of fraternal belief through a potent combination of highly charged imagery, form, and meaning. The exhibition explores the fascinating visual landscape of fraternal culture through almost two hundred works of art comprising a major gift to the American Folk Art Museum from Kendra and Allan Daniel.
